

- 1) Rayburn, A. L. and B. S. Gill. 1985. Use of biotin-labeled probes to map specific DNA sequences on wheat chromosomes. J. Hered. 76: 78-81.
- 2) Rayburn, A. L. and B. S. Gill. 1985. Molecular evidence for the origin and evolution of chromosome 4A in polyploid wheat. Can. J. Genet. Cytol. 27: 246-250.
- 3) Rayburn, A. L. and B. S. Gill. 1986. Molecular identification of the D-genome of wheat. J. Hered. 77: 253-255.
- 4) Lapitan, N. L. V., R. G. Sears, A. L. Rayburn and B. S. Gill. 1986. Wheat-rye translocations: detection of chromosomal breakpoints by in situ hybridization with a biotin labeled DNA probe. J. Hered. 77: 415-419.
- 5) Rayburn, A. L. and B. S. Gill. 1986. Isolation of a D-genome specific repeated DNA sequence from Aegilops squarrosa. Plnt. Mol. Biol. Report. 4: 102-109.
- 6) Rayburn, A. L. and B. S. Gill. 1987. Molecular analysis of the D-genome of the Triticeae. Theor. Appl. Genet. 73: 385-388.
- 7) Rayburn, A. L. and B. S. Gill. 1987. Use of repeated DNA sequences as cytological markers. Amer. J. Bot. 74: 574-580.
- 8) Rayburn, A. L. and B. S. Gill. 1988. Repeated DNA sequences in Triticum: Chromosomal mapping and its bearing on the evolution of the B and G genomes. Plnt. System. Evol. 159: 229-235.